FINNISH REDS SHOW THEIR HAND

Submit Demands 'To President

Helsinki, Mar. 3-Finnish Communist leaders today called on President Juho K. Passikivi and demanded that negotiations for a treaty of friendship and military alliance with Russia he started immediately.

The demand was made after reports that Passikivi informed the Russian Minister, Lieut.-Gen. G. Savonenkov, that Finland cannot sign any treaty giving Russia power to use the Finnish army anywhere in the case of war, A delegation of five leaders of the Communist Democratic Union, headed by Hertta Kunsinen, called on President Passikivi officially to present the party's views.

The Stock Exchange in Helsinki reacted sharply to the tegsion created by treaty discussions, with quotations generally dropping a full ten percent in a single day's trading. The decline was particularly harked among industrials and government bonds.

CLAUSE UNACCEPTABLE

Reliable sources said that Paasikivi stressed Finnish opposition to Clause 2 of the Balkan treaties when he discussed the matter with Sanonenkov on Saturday.

The clause contained in the -Hungarian—and-Rumanian—treaties (provides that each party in the care of war shall give the other all mills tary and other support by all means available. Paasikivi insisted that this clause is unacceptable because it meant that the Finnish Army could be used by the Russians anywhere. All parties, except the Communist Democratic Union, formed a solid bloc ugainst granting Russia a mulitary treaty on the Balkan satellite pattern.---United Press.

Sloops Rushing To Scene

TROOPS ON

Capetown, Mar. 3.—Two Royal Navy sloops left the naval base of Simonstown, South Africa, today for the Gold Coast, where 14 people are reported to have been killed and more than 140 wounded in rioting in the last few days.

The situation in Accra, the Gold Coast capital, was quiet today, a Reuter message from the city reported, but shops were still closed.

A small detachment of Nigerian troops has already been flown to Acera, from Idaban, Nigeria. The sloops, the Actaen and Nereide, both about

1,400 tons, are similar to the sloop Snipe now helping in the "show the flag" operations in the Antarctic. Indian and Syrian shops have been looted and burned and European attacked in the Gold Coast riots, which broke out after a parade of African ex-servicemen. News of the disturbances reaching Dakar today said there had been fresh riots "against the cost of living" and that the total deathroll was now 14.

(It was learned in Accra last night that in Monday's disturbances nine people were killed and 120 hurt. The Governor, Sir Edward Creasy, alleged in a broadcast last I night that the rioting had been incited by a new political body called the United Gold Coast Convention).—Reuter.

London, Mar. 3-Troop carrying planes, which have already arrived at Gibraltar, are ready to fly troops to West Africa in case they are needed there, it was learned from the War Office tonight.

This is merely a precautionary measure, the War Office emphasised, adding that "it appears at the moment unlikely" that they will be needed.

A Renter despatch from Gibraltar said the 2nd Bat-"talion of the Cameronian Regiment was ready there tonight to go by air tonight or tomorrow morning "to a secret destination."

Four big transport planes have landed on Gibraltar Airfield, the despatch added .- Renter.

Welcome Legislation

TIME Trade Unions and Trade Disputes Ordinance, which recelved its first reading in Legislative Council yesterday is a welcome piece of legislation. Trade Unionism has grown apace in Hongkong since the liberation but more out of necessity than design. It is, as yet, by no means. "properly organised or regulated, and more than once during the past two years there have been good grounds for suspecting that political agitation lay behind some of the trade disputes. Under the new ordinance trade unions must be registered, cannot use their funds for other than specified purposes, must have properly appointed officials, can indulge in peaceful picketing, and may not subscribe to political partles either within or outside the colony. At the same time the. unions attain a legal status which to date they have not enjoyed. this foundation it is expected that the Colony's trade unions will develop into institutions worthy of representing the interests of their members. One unsatisfactory aspect of trade unionism which the ordinance will correct is the practice of multiple representation. several occasions the task of the Labour Officer as mediator in trade disputes has been made embarrassing by the sudden emergence of new spokesmen for the workers after negotiations had been opened by other nominees. Thus it has more than once been difficult to discover just who does and does not represent the strikers. This is now due for correction. The new legislation makes a cautious approach to the problem of procedure for settling disputes. It has been declord to adopt the principle that disputes should, as far as possible, be settled by negotiations between employers' and workers' representatives, but where these fall. both sides will have the opportunity of submitting their case to an arbitrator to be appointed by the Governor. If the disputants care to, they can nominate an equal number of representatives to sit on the arbitration tribunal. This is a common and generally acceptable type of machinery for dealing with trade disputes. Only one doubt arises: whether it goes far enough. In the first place any appeal to arbitration is to be voluntary only, and in the second, the decisions of the arbitrator are not legally binding on the parties. Theoretically the voluntary arbitration system is ideal. the understanding being that once disputants have submitted their ease to the arbitrator they are morally bound to accept his award. Nevertheless the temptation remains for parties, dissatisfled with the arbitration, to refuse to accept it, and there is nothing in the ordinance as framed at present to meet any such situation. Experience, of course, will show whether it is necessary to tighten up the arbitration system with powers of enforcement. For the present it can be said that the bill goes a long way in helping workers to organise sound and constructive unions, and it also makes a useful confelbution towards regulating relations between employers and employees.

The final $100 million was withdrawn on Monday, it was stated.

Titles for 'women's services have never enjoyed a long life in the past. At the outbreak of the first World War, we had the Women's Volunteer Reserve, a private society though Its members were khaki, did a lot of drill, and were very military in training and who did much' useful work in canteens. The following year came the Women's Legion Cookery Section, from which cooks and waitresses were hired by the War Department.

In 1917, when the manpower situation became increasingly serious, the War Office formed the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps - 57,000 women rendering service at home and in France, where they known by the French as "Les Tommettes." In April 1918, Queen Mary of eigarette paper as well as other became Commander-in-Chief the Corps, and the title changed kinds of paper, according to to Queen Mary's Army Auxiliary Corps. COMMUNISM PRESENTS NEW THREAT OF WAR

London, Mar. 3.—The Communist overthrow of Czechoslovakia was tonight denounced by Lord Pakenham, speaking for the Government, as "Hitlerite in technique and utterly damnable in every way." He was replying to a debate on foreign affairs in the House of Lords, in which the opening speaker, the Marquess of Salisbury, had set the tone by declaring that Russian policy had shown a "new and sinister side" in "snapping up Bulgaria, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary."

The Communists were convinced, Lord Pakenham said, "that we are being driven to desire their overthrow, and they believe that our whole system is fundamentally decadent and unsound and doomed, before long, to collapse and give place to their own.

"How can the world be saved from Communism without war, as we could not save it from Nazism without war"

OFFICER ON TRIAL

CONDUCT TOWARDS DETAINEES

Hanoyer, Mar. 3.—A tormer SS man, Dr Horst Mahnke, was the first witness today at the resumed trial by a British court martial of Lieutenant Richard Oliver Langham, of the Royal Armoured Corps, who is accused of "disgraceful conduct" at a detention camp at Bad Nenndorf, near here.

Langham was stated by the prosecution yesterday to have been born in Munich in 1921, to have gone to Britain a few years later and to have become a British subject.

Pale and clean-shaven, Dr. Mahnke told the court that he had been a member of the SS from 1937. In 1939, he became an assistant professor at Berlin University, and during the last two years of the war worked in the Cultural Political Department of the Foreign Office,

He was arrested by the British Security Service in January, 1946, and in April was taken to Bad Nenndorf.

Pressure On Wife

Major Edmunds that "my accomplices had been arrested and I could only save myself from being shot by making a full confession." "He also told me that my family had been arrested and if I did not confess pressure would be applied to my wife. I replied I could not make a confession as I had not committed any offence."

Dr. Mahnke added that during the interrogation, he was punched and lighted eigarettes were placed against his flesh. He was held under a cold shower for "minutes" and in punched again when trying to escape Mine, a crowd of some 1,000 persons. Manchuria. Gen.
